The Doctor Nurse Knows Best

by Myla Poynter

Who takes care of you when you are sick or in need or even have medicine for you when you have a headache? That's right, the nurse does. Mrs. Hernandez, a new face here as the nurse of MCHS, moved here from Seattle, Washington two years ago where she has experienced being a nurse for thirty years. Wow, that's sure a long time!

While driven to her work for the past three decades she ended up retiring. With a decision from herself and her family she took an unexpected turn in life and arrived here in McNairy County. In addition, she has three children, two of which are twins, and a daughter. Hernandez also has two grandchildren whom she loves dearly.

Although Mrs. Hernandez feels that her job is rewarding, she has a very hectic schedule. Her job responsibilities are to monitor her diabetics throughout the day, give out daily medication to students who need them, and check in with all the kids who have complaints. What has drawn her into this profession though? Hernandez tells us,

"Nursing doesn't even feel like a job to me." Her passion for caring for others began at a young age. Instead of work it feels more like her purpose in life. After she graduated from high school, Hernandez took off to Columbia Basin

College in the eastern part of Washington. She then stayed there for four years and graduated with a nursing degree. As she worked at the Trauma Center in Seattle, Hernandez would use any spare time she had to nurse at church camps.

Speaking of spare time, Mrs. Hernandez's favorite hobby is swimming anywhere there is salt water. She also likes to read. Her favorite authors are John Grisham and Diane Chamberlain.
